

The “Grantham Scholars of the Year” Award

The “Grantham Scholars of the Year” Award has been introduced since the academic year 1997-1998 in order to reward all-round students with outstanding academic achievement, excellent conduct, active participation in extra-curricular activities and devotion to school and community services. Candidates participating in the selection are required to attend an interview, which includes an individual presentation and a group discussion.

Every year, 24 students are selected to receive this prestigious award, in which 8 awards are presented to Secondary Six students on Hong Kong Island, 8 to students in Kowloon and 8 to students in the New Territories. This year, S.6B Wan Fong-ying, Fiona, was chosen as one of the 24 awardees. She was delighted to share her success with her parents, teachers and fellow schoolmates.
